

assumes greater importance and the concept of universal Islamic brotherhood is fully comprehended by all Muslims. Malaysia, where Islam plays active role in the national life, could accelerate its commitment to the Ummatic cause through sending volunteers to the battle ground, and by joining UN-peace keeping troops that may be sent to the area to help in resolving the problem. In addition, Malaysia, with its pioneering role in the Third World, is expected to continue to persuade the UN to ensure the implementation of resolutions on the crisis, and to urge all member-states of the OIC to forge a united front to help solve the Islamic issues.

REFERENCES

- Abdul Razak Baginda. (ed) (1995). Malaysia's defence and foreign policies. Kuala Lumpur: Pelanduk Publications.
- Ahmad, Aziz Zariza. (1997). Mahathir's paradigm shift: The man behind the vision. Perak: Firma Malaysia Publishing.
- Ahmad, Mohd. Yusof, Continuity and change in Malaysia's Foreign Policy: 1981-1986. Ph.D. Thesis, Tufts University, 1990.
- Anidah Robani. (2009). The Palestinian issue: A Malaysian perspectives. Kuala Lumpur: IIUM Press.
- Camaroux, David. (1994). Looking east and inwards: International factors in Malaysian foreign relations during the Mahathir era 1981-1994. Australia: Griffith University.
- Camber, Leon. (1983). 13 May 1969: A historical survey of Sino-Malay relations. Kuala Lumpur: Heinemann Asia.
- Karminder Singh Dhillon. (2009). Malaysian foreign policy in the Mahathir era 1981-2003: Dilemmas of development. Hawaii: University of Hawaii Press.
- Makaruddin, Hashim (2000). Islam and the Muslim ummah: Selected speeches of Dr Mahathir Mohamed Prime Minister of Malaysia. Subang Jaya: Pelanduk Publications.
- Mauzy, D.K. and Milne, R. S. (1999). Malaysian politics under Mahathir. New York: Routledge.
- Means, Gordon P. (1970). Malaysian politics. New York: New York University Press.
- Pathmanathan, M and Lazarus, D. (1984). Mahathir impact on Malaysian foreign policy. Kuala Lumpur: Eastview Productions.

- Mutalib, Husin. (1995). Islam and ethnicity in Malay politics. Petaling Jaya: Pelanduk Publications.
- Nair, Shanti. (1997). Religious identity in foreign policy: Islam, foreign policy and the Mahathir administration. New York: Routledge.
- Nair, Shanti. (1998). Islam in Malaysian foreign policy. New York: Routledge.
- Shafie, M. Ghazali. (1982). Malaysia: International relations. Kuala Lumpur: Creative Enterprise.
- Sheridan, L. A. and Groves, H. E. (1967). The constitution of Malaysia. New York: Oceana Publications.
- Widdowson, H. J. (1976). The influence of Islam in the formulation of the foreign policy of Pakistan, Malaysia and Indonesia. PhD. Thesis, University of Hong Kong.
- Widdowson, H. J. (1980). Koleksi Ucapan Tun Hussein Onn 1980. Kuala Lumpur: National Archive of Malaysia and Prime Minister's Department.
- Islamic Herald
- Far Eastern Economic Review
- Utusan Malaysia
- The Straits Time
- Suara Malaysia
- New Straits Times
- The Malay Mail
- ISIS Focus
- Foreign Affairs Malaysia
- Economics Report 1985. Kuala Lumpur: Ministry of Finance Malaysia.
- Parliamentary Debates House of Representative
- Federal Constitution Malaysia, Article 160 (2)